I love Escondido and have proudly served as an informed, independent and articulate voice on the City Council for the past eight years. Escondido is a wonderful community that deserves positive recognition and perceptive representation.

I have guarded against the waste of your tax dollars while insisting on quality development, infrastructure upgrades and support of core services such as libraries and public safety. I have been the strongest advocate of neighborhood preservation and restoration of the Escondido Creek Trail. I have identified ways to support local business retention and successfully courted new businesses to move to Escondido. In addition, I have served as the City's representative on several regional boards and commissions.

Honesty and hard work are qualities I embrace. I welcome public feedback and believe debate is a necessary part of the democratic process. My demonstrated aptitude for fair and logical decision making stems from my degree in accounting and extensive data analysis experience. We have common goals and if we work together, we can create a welcoming community to raise a family and grow a business.

I will work diligently to make Escondido a better place for everyone.
