Agenda Item No.: 13

Date: April 18, 2012

TO: Honorable Mayor and Members of the City Council

FROM: Jeffrey R. Epp, City Attorney
Jennifer K. McCain, Assistant City Attorney

SUBJECT: Public Hearing on Proposed City Charter

This staff report provides general background information regarding charter cities, a brief summary of issues raised at the September 28, 2011 public workshop and recent legal developments which affect both the content and the adoption requirements for a charter ballot measure.

RECOMMENDATION:

Council is requested to hold a public hearing on the proposed city charter for the City of Escondido (attached) and listen to public comments and suggestions and provide direction on any changes to the proposed city charter.

FISCAL ANALYSIS:

If the proposed charter is placed on the November 2012 ballot, the City Clerk has provided revised cost estimates in an estimated range of $35,000 to $40,000 for six pages. Staff also estimates a cost of $13,200 for an informational community mailer.

PREVIOUS ACTION:

Deputy Mayor Marie Waldron and Councilmember Ed Gallo originally requested a City Council agenda item to consider the subject of becoming a charter city on March 9, 2011. The City Council discussed becoming a charter city and on April 13, 2011, Deputy Mayor Marie Waldron presented a draft charter to the Council for public discussion. A public workshop to discuss the proposed charter and receive input from the public was held on September 28, 2011. A draft charter was placed on the City's website on September 29, 2011. A revised draft charter (attached) was posted on the City's website on January 12, 2012.

BACKGROUND:

In California, there are two kinds of cities: charter cities and general law cities. See Cal. Gov't Code §§ 34100-34102. General law cities derive their corporate powers from general laws enacted by the legislature. See generally Irwin v. City of Manhattan Beach (1966) 65 Cal. 2d 13. Charter cities, on the other hand, derive their corporate powers directly from the constitution, subject to limitations of their respective charters and enactments of the legislature on matters of statewide concern. See Johnson v. Bradley (1992) 4 Cal. 4th 389, 394. The City of Escondido is a general law city and was incorporated in 1888. According to the League of California Cities, of the 482 cities in the state, 120 are charter cities. In North County, Carlsbad (adopted 2008), Oceanside (adopted 2010), Del Mar (adopted 1960), Vista (adopted 2007) and San Marcos (adopted 1994) are charter cities.

Charters can be drafted to be very broad or narrowly tailored to address a few specific local needs. For instance, the City of San Diego's charter is 121 pages and addresses many issues, including, corporate powers, nominations and elections, legislative power, the mayor, executive and administrative service, board of education, finance, civil service, retirement of employees, transfer of police and fire department employees into the retirement system, fireman's relief and pension fund, labor on public work, city police court, and the strong mayor form of governance.

By contrast, Vista and other North San Diego County cities have all tended toward using shorter, simplified charter documents which address specific issues including public works contracts, prevailing wage, public financing, and retirement benefits. Charters for Carlsbad, Oceanside, Del Mar, Vista and San Marcos have previously been provided to you for review and comparison.

The authority provided in the state constitution to organize as a charter city is extended only to an existing city. An advantage of the charter form of government stems from the potential breadth of local authority which may be exercised. Since the powers of a charter city are not restricted to only those outlined in the general state municipal law, a city can adopt a charter and customize its organization and elective offices to provide for unique local conditions and needs.

A charter is a written document, approved by the electorate, which operates as a "constitution" for the adopting city. The provisions of Cal Const art. XI, § 3(a) authorize the adoption of a city charter and provide that such a charter has the force and effect of state law. Charter cities have the power to make and enforce all ordinances and regulations with respect to municipal affairs, including those relating to the creation and regulation of a police force and sub-government within the city, the conduct of city elections, and the dealings with municipal officers and employees. Cal Const art. XI, § 5(b). Charters act as instruments of limitation on the broad power of charter cities over matters of municipal affairs. City of Glendale v. Trondsen (1957) 48 Cal. 2d 93, 98. A charter can only be adopted and/or changed by a majority vote of the city residents.

The provisions of Cal Const art. XI, § 5(a), the "home rule" provision, affirmatively grant charter cities supremacy over "municipal affairs." However, the California Constitution does not define the term "municipal affair." The "home rule" provision of the California Constitution authorizes a charter city to exercise plenary authority over municipal affairs, free from any constraint imposed by the general law and subject only to constitutional limitations. See Cal Const art. XI § 5(a); Ex Parte Braun (1903) 141 Cal. 204, 209; Bishop v. City of San Jose (1969) 1 Cal. 3d 56, 61; Comm. of Seven Thousand v. Super. Ct. (City of Irvine) (1988) 45 Cal. 3d 491. The primary advantage of a charter is that it allows greater authority for a city's governance than that provided by state law. A city charter is subject only to conflicting provisions in the state or federal constitutions and preemptive state law on matters of statewide concern.

Whether a given activity is a municipal affair over which a city has sovereignty or a statewide concern, over which the legislature has authority, is a legal determination for the courts to resolve. Thus, the determination of whether a given activity is a municipal affair or statewide concern is done on a case-by-case basis. The court's determination will depend on the particular facts and circumstances of each case. See In Re Hubbard (1964) 62 Cal. 2d 119, 128. The concept of "municipal affairs" is a fluid one that changes over time as local issues become statewide concerns. See Issac v. City of Los Angeles (1998) 66 Cal. App. 4th 586.

Municipal Affairs

There are some areas that the courts have consistently classified as municipal affairs. These include:

- Municipal Election Matters. See Mackey v. Thiel (1968) 262 Cal. App. 2d 362.
- Procedures for Initiative, Referendum and Recall. See Lawing v. Faull (1964) 227 Cal. App. 2d 23, 29.
- Procedures for Adopting Ordinances. See Brougher v. Board of Public Works (1928) 205 Cal. 426.
- Compensation of City Officers and Employees. Cal Const art. XI, § 5(b); See Sonoma County Organization of Public Employees v. County of Sonoma (1979) 23 Cal. 3d 296; but see San Leandro Police Officers Association v. City of San Leandro (1976) 55 Cal. App. 3d 553 (labor relations is not a municipal affair; charter cities are subject to the Meyers-Milias Brown Act. Cal. Gov't Code § 3500).
- Processes Associated with City Contracts. See First Street Plaza Partners v. City of Los Angeles (1998) 65 Cal. App. 4th 650; but see Domar Electric, Inc. v. City of Los Angeles (1995) 41 Cal. App. 4th 810 (state law establishing employment policy may preempt local regulation of bidding criteria).
- Financing Public Improvements. See City of Santa Monica v. Grubb (1996) 245 Cal. App. 2d 718.
- Making Charitable Gifts of Public Funds for Public Purposes. See Cal Const art. XVI, § 6; Tevis v. City and County of San Francisco (1954) 43 Cal. 2d 190.
- Term Limits for Council Members. See Cawdrey v. City of Redondo Beach (1996) 15 Cal. App. 4th 1212; but see Cal. Gov't Code § 36502(b) (regulating term limits).
- Land Use and Zoning Decisions (with a few exceptions). See Brougher v. Bd. of Pub. Works (1928) 205 Cal. 426.

Matters of Statewide Concern

Alternatively, the following have consistently been classified by the courts as matters of statewide concern:

- School Systems. Whisman v. San Francisco Unified Sch. Dist. (1978) 86 Cal. App. 3d 782, 789.
- Traffic and Vehicle Regulation. Cal. Veh. Code § 21.
- Licensing of Members of a Trade or Profession. City and County of San Francisco v. Boss (1948) 83 Cal. App. 2d 445.
- Tort Claims Against a Governmental Entity. Helbach v. City of Long Beach (1942) 50 Cal. App. 2d 242, 247.
- Open and Public Meetings. Ralph M. Brown Act. Cal. Gov't Code §§ 54951, 54953(a).
- Exercise of the Power of Eminent Domain. Wilson v. Beville (1957) 47 Cal. 2d 852, 856.

September 28, 2011 Charter Proposal Workshop

Much of the discussion at the workshop revolved around Section 303 of the proposed charter concerning Project Labor Agreements (PLA's). There was some confusion on the definition of a PLA and what, if any impact, Section 303 would have on the City's ability to enter into a PLA. In addition, questions arose regarding how becoming a charter city would affect the City's statutory obligation to pay prevailing wages on public works projects. Further, some members of the public questioned why the City should become a charter city after such a long history of being a general law city. Public and Councilmember comments included suggestions for the draft charter. These suggestions included: adding a requirement that Mayor and City Council salaries and benefits be subject to state law; Council district only elections; balanced budget and free enterprise provisions.

Project Labor Agreements (PLA's)/SB 922

The language in Section 303 of the first draft of the charter entitled "Fair and Open Competition" mirrored the language in the Oceanside charter and was very similar to Chula Vista's charter provision.<sup>1</sup> These provisions prohibit the City from requiring contractors on public works contracts to enter into PLA's. In North County, Carlsbad, Del Mar, San Marcos and Vista do not have this provision in their charters.

Just after the charter workshop, the Governor signed SB 922 on October 2, 2011. SB 922 prevents blanket bans on local agencies' use of PLA's and greatly impacts the City's ability to adopt Section 303 of the draft charter. SB 922 authorizes a public entity to use, enter into, or require contractors to enter into a PLA for a construction project, if the agreement contains specific provisions. This law also authorizes the City to choose by majority vote of its Councilmembers to use, enter into or require contractors to enter into a PLA for a specific project awarded by the City. Most importantly, however, this law now prohibits a charter provision, initiative, or ordinance from preventing the governing board of a local public entity, other than a charter city, from exercising this authority on a project-specific basis. This law also provides that if a charter provision, initiative, or ordinance of a charter city prohibits the governing board from considering whether to allocate funds to a city-funded project covered by a PLA, then state funding or financial assistance may not be used to support that project.

Based on the adoption of SB 922, the legal landscape has changed since the September 28, 2011 public workshop. In light of the risk of jeopardizing state funding for adopting a provision regarding PLA's, it was decided that this provision be removed from the first draft of the charter and replaced with a revised Section 303 which states as follows:<sup>2</sup>

Section 303. Fair and Open Competition

The City will promote fair and open competition for all City construction projects so that all contractors and workers, whether union or non-union, are treated equally in the bidding and awarding of City construction contracts.

State Prevailing Wage Requirements: Municipal Affair or Statewide Concern?

Cities more recently have been chartered based primarily upon potential financial benefits. Avoiding prevailing wage requirements has been a dominant theme, especially among North San Diego County cities. Section 302 of the draft charter would allow the City to exempt itself from paying state prevailing wages on City funded projects. It is important to note that federally or state funded projects remain subject to the state prevailing wage requirements. During the charter workshop, staff identified significant savings that could be achieved if the City was exempt from paying state prevailing wages. Staff's presentation indicated that total construction projects were currently projected at $163 million for the next five years and the estimated savings to the City if exempt from prevailing wage could be as much as $16 million total.<sup>3</sup>

By way of background, California law has included State prevailing wage requirements since 1931, when the Legislature adopted the Public Wage Rate Act. The current requirements are set forth in Labor Code § 1720 et seq. State law requires that all workers employed on a public works project of more than $1,000 must be paid the general prevailing rate of per diem wages for the work performed. Labor Code § 1771. This requirement does not apply to work done by a public agency's own forces.

<sup>2</sup> The public was notified of this change by a news release dated January 12, 2012, and the revised draft charter was placed on the City's website.

<sup>3</sup> Even as a charter city, Escondido will be required to pay prevailing wage for federally or state funded projects. For example, if the City were to receive a grant from the federal Economic Development Agency as a result of the City's CEDS document, the City would have to pay prevailing wages for any public projects funded by these grant monies.

Honorable Mayor and Members of the City Council

April 18, 2012

Id. The prevailing wage rates for various job classifications in each locality are set by the State Department of Industrial Relations generally based on wage rates paid in the locality and the nearest market area to a majority or the largest number of workers in a given classification. Labor Code § 1773.9.

The prevailing wage law is designed to ensure that private contractors who enter into collective bargaining agreements can compete for public works contracts. However, the law is not applicable to private agreements. Historically, charter cities have not been bound by state law prevailing wage requirements so long as the project is a municipal affair, and not one funded by state or federal grants. Vial v. City of San Diego (1981) 122 Cal. App. 3d 346, 348. The League of California Cities notes a growing trend on the part of the courts and the Legislature to expand the applicability of prevailing wages to charter cities under an analysis arguing that the payment of prevailing wages is a matter of statewide concern. In 2004, the California Supreme Court described the issue of whether a charter city may exempt itself from compliance with the prevailing wage law as an "open" and "important" question. See City of Long Beach v. Dept. of Indust. Relations (2004) 34 Cal. 4th 942.

Escondido holds a considerable advantage in being able to review the experience of other cities adopting the more limited charters. In the area of prevailing wages, the California Supreme Court's resolution of State Building and Construction Trades Council of California, AFL CIO v. City of Vista (2009) 173 Cal. App. 4th 567 rev. granted will be determinative on whether a charter city can exempt itself from prevailing wage laws.

In the lower courts, the City of Vista successfully defended its ordinance exempting municipal contracts from prevailing wage laws based on the City's charter status. See State Building and Construction Trades Council of California, AFL CIO v. City of Vista (2009) 173 Cal. App. 4th 567 rev. granted.

Vista became a charter city on June 13, 2007. At the time of the ballot measure, Vista was anticipating the construction of several capital improvement projects, including a new civic center; two fire stations; a new sports park; and a stage house for the Moonlight Theatre. See State Building and Construction Trades Council of California, AFL CIO v. City of Vista (2009) 173 Cal. App. 4th 567 rev. granted. Advocating for a vote in favor of the ballot measure, the Vista City Council informed the public that if Vista became a charter city it "could choose when and if it pays 'prevailing wages'" on public works contracts. Id. at 573. The voters approved the measure and Vista became a charter city and exempted City funded public works contracts from prevailing wages.

In the Vista case, the trial court and the Court of Appeal agreed that the prevailing wage law does not qualify as a matter of statewide concern because the legislature has been willing to exclude private agreements and a fairly substantial number of publicly-supported contracts from the law's requirements. The Courts also found that the extraterritorial impact of a municipality's contracting practices was not significant or substantial enough to warrant subordination of a municipality's power over its spending, especially when the legislature did not decide to regulate private contracting which has an equal or far larger volume of construction. As such, the lower courts held the City's ordinance exempting municipal projects from the prevailing wage law was valid.

On August 20, 2009, the California Supreme Court granted review of the lower court's decision and the matter has been fully briefed since February 2010, with no activity whatsoever until just recently, when both sides presented oral argument to the California Supreme Court on April 4, 2012. With the matter currently under submission and awaiting decision, there remains a possibility that the California Supreme Court may rule that prevailing wage laws are a matter of statewide concern. Such a ruling would trump the ability of a charter city to use "home rule" to exempt itself from the prevailing wage laws. The Court's decision should be made within the next ninety days, prior to the deadline to submit a ballot measure to the County Recorder's Office for the November election.

Notwithstanding the California Supreme Court's decision in the Vista case, the state legislature can always react by adopting specific legislation declaring prevailing wage laws to be matters of statewide concern or by specifically limiting the authority of a charter city (as in the case of SB 922). Indeed, the ability of the legislature to influence which laws become matters of statewide concern will always be a limitation on the authority and control of a charter city.

Section 302 of the draft charter exempting the City from paying prevailing wages on local public works projects provides the City with more local authority and cost savings. However, the validity of this section will depend largely on the California Supreme Court's decision in the Vista case.

Adoption of a Charter/AB 1344

On its own motion, the City Council may propose a charter and submit it to the voters for adoption. See Cal. Gov't Code § 34458. An election to decide on the adoption of a charter may be called by the City Council. See Cal Const art. XI, § 3. A majority of voters must vote in favor of the proposed charter for it to be ratified. The charter will not go into effect until it has been filed and accepted by the Secretary of State. See Cal. Gov't Code § 34459.

Since the last public meeting regarding the charter, the law regarding the charter adoption process has changed. On October 9, 2011, the Governor signed AB 1344 into law. This law, effective January 1, 2012, significantly changes the public hearing process for a charter proposal and the timelines for submission of ballot language for a charter election. AB 1344 changes the timeframes to submit ballot language to the voters from 88 days before the election to 95 days before an established statewide general, statewide primary, or regularly scheduled municipal election. In addition, state law now mandates that the ballot language contain an enumeration of new city powers as a result of the adoption of the charter, including, but not limited to, whether the city council will, pursuant to an adopted charter, have the power to raise its own compensation and the compensation of other city officials without voter approval.

This legislation also alters the public process required before a charter proposal can be placed on the ballot. The law requires that prior to approving the submission to the voters of a proposal to adopt a charter, the governing body shall hold at least two public hearings on the matter of the proposed charter and the content of the proposed charter. Notice of the public hearings shall be given by publication in a newspaper designated by the governing body and circulated throughout the city and by posting the notice in three public places within the jurisdiction at least 21 calendar days prior to the date of each public hearing. The second hearing shall be held at least 30 days after the first public hearing. At least one of the public hearings shall be held outside of normal business hours to facilitate public participation. The governing body shall not conduct a vote on whether to approve the submission to the voters of the proposal to adopt a charter until 21 days after the second public hearing.

To date, study has taken place and public input has been received through three public City Council meetings held on March 9, 2011, April 13, 2011, and September 28, 2011 (a public workshop devoted solely to the proposed charter). The draft charter was also placed on the City's website on September 29, 2011 and a revised draft was placed on the City's website on January 12, 2012. This public hearing has been properly noticed and the second public hearing is scheduled for May 23, 2012 at 6:00 p.m.

Conclusion

Council is requested to hold a public hearing on the proposed city charter for the City of Escondido (attached) and listen to public comments and suggestions and provide direction on any changes to the proposed city charter.

Respectfully submitted,

JEFFREY R. EPP
City Attorney
